

24.0 SUNLIGHT

The NECEC Project will not block access to direct sunlight for any adjacent buildings that may utilize solar energy through active or passive solar systems. Based on the total area occupied by poles and conductors in a cleared transmission line corridor and the dispersed nature of substation and converter substation equipment, the potential for shading of adjacent properties or structures is essentially non-existent.